Company's Records

The Master reported that he had seen the Guildhall Librarian about the charge of the Company's books and he could not bind himself to conditions such as were suggested by P. M. Allcard. The Master was however still of the opinion that the Books should be given over into his custody. After discussion of the matter on the proposition of P. M. Hoare seconded by Sir Felix Cassell it was resolved nem. con. that the Books be handed over to the Guildhall Librarian.
