

THE LAMBERT AWARDS

A further cheque has been received from the estate of Mrs. Camilla Hole, formerly the wife of Constant Lambert.

The Junior Fellowship worth £12,000 was awarded to Denise Mulholland. The committee was impressed by her idea of the need for extra communication between the schools and colleges. It was a concept which had the whole-hearted support of the RCM. At Glasgow University she gained an MA (Drama) thereafter ARCM (Perf), ARCM (Teaching), Dip RCM (Postgraduate). Her opera experience includes numerous roles with Glyndebourne and English Touring Operas and Opera North. She has also appeared in several plays and musicals.

An additional award of a £5,000 scholarship was made to Sarah Thurlow who plays clarinet. Twelve awards of £1,000 were made to promising students in various different fields.

Consequently, the annual grants have been reorganised in consultation with the RCM. In future they will comprise the Junior Fellowship worth £12,000, two postgraduate studentships worth £6,000 each and five awards of £1,000.

Dear Mrs. Alford,

Thank you for your letter of 27th February, and for the copies of your Newsletter which Mr. Iles kindly asked you to send us. We are glad to be able to include them in the archives, as it was here that Mr. Gay carried out his research for the articles on the Queen's Band.

Yours sincerely,

BEETHOVEN PIANO COMPETITION

This competition is organised by the Beethoven Piano Society of Europe of which Professor Malcolm Troup, Junior Warden, is UK Chairman. Freeman Fanny Waterman, CBE, is a European Vice President. The winners of competitions held in the colleges and academies then meet for the finals held in the Austrian Cultural Institute in London.

This year the Company's Silver Medal was won by Midori Tamuro from the GSMD.

THE COLLARD FELLOWSHIP

Following the interview of four candidates, the Fellowship was given to Robin Grant. He had organised the Warwick Pageant and was concerned with the Keynsham project. He considers concert work important but having won the award intends to write an opera with Neil Beddoe. He also wants to compose for both the Amateur and Professional worlds of music. He teaches 20th Century analysis to composition students.

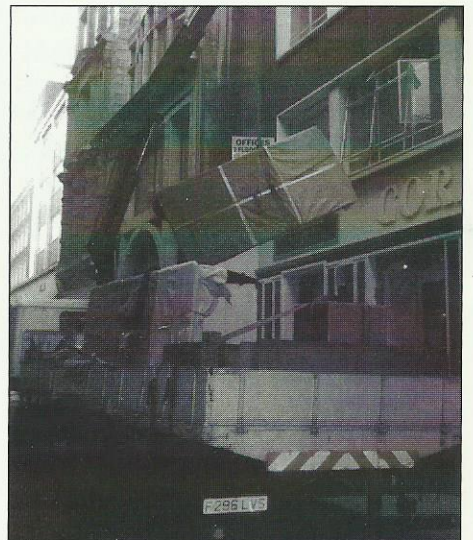

The panel was impressed with his approach. He was making a contribution to the community and it was felt that the Company should be interested in this and for the work that it entailed.

Martin Speake B.Mus, a composer and performer, teaching the saxophone on the B.Mus Jazz course at the RAM, impressed the Committee with his wide range of musical interests and originality of approach. He was therefore awarded the John Ireland Prize.
