

arranging the music for the London Pageant to be held in the Crystal Palace Grounds. Mr Bell offers to have all the prize pieces played he has been referred to the Publishers who now own the rights and have the Manuscripts

Some of the music is also to be given at the Chester Pageant under the direction of Dr J. C. Bridge Organist of the Cathedral and conductor of the music to be performed

Theo. Lea Southgate

Master

A letter was read from Lieutenant Albert Williams stating that he would have the pieces played by the Grenadier Guards Band at the Japan British Exhibition if the Publishers were ready in time

Distinguished

Guests

The Clerk asked for an instruction from the Court as to the seating at Dinners of distinguished Guests invited by members personally and after discussion it was proposed by Sir Homewood Crawford and seconded by Mr Lescher that a Guest should sit with his host in the latter's place by seniority unless such Guest was of a very distinguished position when the instructions of the Master were to be obtained as to placing such Guest at the high table but without his host. An amendment was moved by Sir Frederick Bridge and seconded by Alderman Cooper that the Master's discretion should extend to placing the host of a very distinguished Guest at the high table as well but on being put to the vote the amendment was lost and the substantive proposition was then carried

Liverymen

It was also decided that a Liveryman however distinguished must take his place among the Livery at a Livery dinner the Master to use his discretion as to giving distinguished Liverymen good places
