Dear Sir

I am very grateful to the members of the Musicians Company for their kind vote of condolence and sympathy. I know how much my brother had the interests of the Company at heart and how much the members will miss his cheery companionship.

His death is a great loss to me as we had always worked hand in hand in musical matters for 50 years.

It is however some solace to know that he was spared a painful illness & that he died in full possession of his faculties.

With renewed thanks to you all for your sympathy.

I am

Yours very sincerely,

To: J. G. Fenwick Esq.

Vacancies on Court

Mr. George Wyncham Esq.

Sir John Mallet Esq.

Sir Hugh P. Allen

Post Master Major Chamber called attention to the practice governing elections to the Court and proposed that in future every third vacancy should be filled by unfettered selection from the Livery, regardless of seniority so as to afford the opportunity of inviting Liverymen who are prominently connected with the art of etching or are otherwise desirable as members of the Court whose names would not in the ordinary course be reached for many years.

It was pointed out that the Court had already an unfettered right to elect
