

Mr. J. P. Jones not only on the ground that he was an Alderman and a prospective Lord Mayor of the City of London but more especially in recognition of the services he had rendered to the Company with reference to obtaining the use of Stationers Hall and this was seconded by The Reverend W. H. Hadden

Mr. Hunter said that with every desire to secure Sir George Tuscott's election, so far as he personally was concerned, he felt they ought to take no steps which could not be fully justified before the Livery but on the Master stating that he thought Sir George Tuscott's services to the Company, putting aside the question of his position as an Alderman of the City of London, and as having been recently chosen with Sir John Bell for the Office of Lord Mayor by the Livery, quite justified his election, a view which was also endorsed by several other Members of the Court. Mr. Hunter expressed himself as perfectly satisfied and Sir George Tuscott's election was carried unanimously

Carnegie Scholarships

On the proposition of Dr. Southgate seconded by Mr. E. E.
